

Welcome to our first newsletter.

At EthiQal, we believe that we are not selling a product but are instead providing a solution that protects our doctors and enhances healthcare in our country. Through this publication we will share the latest industry news and expert opinion pieces on medico-legal risk mitigation strategies, to support and inform brokers and healthcare professionals. As a broker working with us to make a difference, we hope you find great value in its content.

Our new website is live

We are excited to announce the launch of the new EthiQal website. It provides current industry news and insight, information about our products and services and an archive of useful documents. To explore the website, click the button below.

Visit website

Comparing the types of professional indemnity cover

To provide healthcare professionals with the best advice, it's essential that you understand the differences between claims-made and occurrence-based cover. We compare the two in our infographic.

Learn more

How do we reduce SA's medico-legal risk?

The number and value of clinical negligence claims brought in the country has risen rapidly in recent years. We spoke to three experts in the field, to get their opinions on how to drive down medico-legal risk.

Read more

Social media guidelines for healthcare professionals

How do you conduct yourself safely in this digital era? We've put together informative and practical guidelines to help you better understand social media risks and how to use these platforms in your professional life.

Learn more

Get in touch. We'd love to hear from you.

